

People and Cultures

Use a Circle Map to collect defining information about any one person, group, or culture.

A Tree Map can then be used to organize this information and provide a focus for further research. A Frame of Reference should be used to identify both the primary and secondary sources used to gather facts and details.

Use a Multi-Flow Map to analyze the impact a certain person or culture has had upon society.

